What's the Use?

Marjorie is a day pupil at a select school in the West Lake district. Her mother disapproved of her drinking from the same cup that the other little girls drank from, so she bought her an aluminum collapsing cup for her very own. The next day Marjorie came running home and, with a kiss, exclaimed: "Oh, mother, all the other little girls at school like me specially much, and we just have the most fun with my collapsing cup! They all stand in a line taking turns drinking with it!"—Housekeeper.

Amplified Protected.

Lord Alvanley was always ready with a joke. Once traveling with Berkeley Craven in a post chaise and four they were upset. Naturally very indignant at the catastrophe, Berkeley Craven determined to give the first postboy a "taste of his quality," but finding him an old man simply remarked, "Your age protects you." Lord Alvanley "went for" postboy the second, but, finding him young and determined looking, wisely retired with "As for you, sir, your youth protects you."

Nothing Omitted.

"The late Calvin Wells," said a Philadelphia, "was at a social gathering in Pittsburgh at the time of the Boer war. A British visitor praised the valor of the British troops. Inasmuch as the Boers were having everything their own way at that time, this made us all smile."

"Well, the Briton began to praise one of General Buller's retreats. 'Buller,' he said, 'was splendid. He retired without losing a man or a flag or a gun.' 'Yes,' said Mr. Wells, 'or a minute.'"

West Point Graduates.

It will doubtless surprise most Americans to learn that out of the small total of 4,121 graduates during the first century of the existence of the Military academy, from 1802 to 1902, 2,731 entered civil life at some period of their career.—National Magazine.

Japan's Toothache Altars.

"Japan is dotted with shrines," said a traveler. "One that I examined closely resembled a little house about three feet wide and as many high, with a peaked roof and its front wall taken out. It stood in a shaded part of a park. Attached to bamboo rods across the front were many slips of paper on which sufferers from toothache had written their prayers and promises to do acts of charity and kindness if the pain which brought them there disappeared. We were told that at least one toothache altar might be found in any Japanese town."

The Mole.

The most courageous of all living things is, by common consent of naturalists, the mole. Seemingly without any sense of fear whatever, the mole will fight anything that crosses its path. It never raises the white flag. Neither giving nor asking quarter, it tears away at its adversary until it kills it or is itself killed. The mole's appetite is in keeping with its courage, and it thinks nothing of eating its own weight. In appetite the spider is a close second to the mole, but when it comes to fighting the mole carries the palm.

Marriage Superstitions.

Marriage is surrounded with superstitions, many of which apply only to the marriage ceremony. The wedding ring is made plain and thick only for the reason that its thickness and plainness secure it against breakage, for to break it is the very worst of luck for both bride and groom. White is the best color to get married in, but a widow may marry in any color save yellow. Should a bride drop one of her gloves woe betide her! She must exercise great care in getting in and out of her carriage, and a false step is an ill omen which brings misfortune.

Comes High.

Bronx—That's a handsome umbrella you've got there, old man.

Lenox—Yes, isn't it?

Bronx—About what does it cost to carry an umbrella like that?

Lenox—Eternal vigilance.—Circle Magazine.

A Debtor's Stratagem.

"Yes," said the business man, "I have given up trying to collect that little bill from Bilkins. You see, he is a pretty big fellow, and he used to throw my collectors out every time they called."

"Then why didn't you employ a woman collector? He couldn't do that to a woman."

"That's what I thought, so I got one and sent her round, but she never came back."

"Why not?"

"He married her."—London Tit-Bits.

What She Would Like.

"Willie," said Mr. Simpkins, "I want to give your sister some nice little present. Do you know of anything she would like?"

"Do I?" returned Willie, with a strong emphasis on the "do." "I guess I do."

"What if it, Willie?" asked Simpkins, slipping him a quarter.

"Well, I heard her tell mother this morning that she wanted a new box of face powder, a bottle of hair restorer, some new back swishes, and—"

But Mr. Simpkins had made a hurried exit.—Lippincott's.

SURELY SAVED THEIR LIVES

"Old Pomp" There When His Marse Charlie and Marse William Fought Duel.

There was nothing old Pomp enjoyed more than telling stories of the importance of his position in the days "befo' de wah," when he was a conspicuous figure on a southern plantation of the best sort. "I brung up Marse Charlie an' Marse William," he often said, solemnly. "Deir own famly 'lowed I saved bofe deir lives once, besides all de res' I done fo' 'em."

"Twar jes' like dis: Marse Charlie an' Marse William, dey bofe tuk de mos' 'grejus fancy to a young lady dat come a-visiting de house; an' somebody had fill deir foolish haid all up wid talk about duels; an' dey jes' promulgated to hab one, an' find out which ob 'em was to hab de young lady."

"Marse Charlie he was seventeen, short an' fiery, and Marse William he was sixteen, slim an' cool; but dey was bofe sot' an' 'terminated on de duel."

"Course dey didn't tell me 'bout it, but I 'spected it, same as I always did. 'Kase I looked after dem boys fo' deir paw an' maw, when dere was compny."

"So I watched out, an' I follered, an' I crep' up to where dey was beginning to take p'sition fo' de duel, an' an' I jes' broke it up."

"How did you do it, Pomp?" each listener is sure to ask.

"How did I do it, chile? Why, I jes' emptied a pail o' water right on Marse Charlie's haid, an' I tuk an' spanked Marse William—dat's how."—Youth's Companion.

Value of Sun Bath.

A sun bath is of more value to health than much warming by the fire.
